

HOT JOB OF THE WEEK

Foreign Service Information Management Technical Specialist

Department of State

The U.S. Department of State is the lead foreign affairs agency formulating and implementing the President's foreign policy and representing U.S. interests throughout the world. Foreign Service Information Management Technical Specialists (IMTS) are responsible for the installation, repair, and maintenance of a wide range of digital, radio, and telephone equipment. The ability to adapt to changing physical environments, work with differing levels of technology, and keep abreast of the latest developments and innovations in the Information Technology field are characteristics of the Department of State Information Management Technical Specialists (IMTS).

In your position as an Information Management Technical Specialist you will:

- Design, install and maintain various telecommunications and radio systems.
- Provide regional technical assistance to overseas missions via telephone, e-mail and on-site visits.
- Provide oversight for assorted hardware procurement, logistics and maintenance programs.

Requirements:

- You must be a United States citizen between the ages of 21 and 59.
- Must have in-depth technical knowledge of RF systems and be able to perform major building surveys for upgrades or new HF/VHF/UHF radio communication systems.

Salary: 42,314.00 – 62,140.00 USD/ year

Location: Throughout the world

Closing Date: November 20, 2009

Contact Information: Application Evaluation Branch
Phone: (202) 261-8857
Email: IMTSvacancyinfo@state.gov
Control Number: 1429919

For this announcement and others like it see www.makingthedifference.org.

