

HOT JOB OF THE WEEK

Policy Analyst

Executive Office of the President Office of Intergovernmental Public Liaison

This position as a Policy Analyst is in the Office of Intergovernmental Public Liaison (OIPL) within the Executive Office of the President, Office of National Drug Control Policy. This position will provide advice and counsel regarding many facets of substance abuse needs in Indian Country, and be responsible for building and maintaining relationships with Tribes and external national Indian organizations.

In your position as a Policy Analyst you will:

- Coordinate activities related to state, local, and tribal government, law enforcement officials, and outside organizations.
- Assist OIPL to ensure that the state, local, and tribal perspective is taken into account in the establishment of policies, priorities, and objectives for the Nation's drug control program.
- Provide advice and counsel regarding substance abuse enforcement, treatment, prevention, and recovery needs in Indian Country.
- Build and maintain relationships with Tribes and external national Indian organizations.

Requirements:

- You must be a United States citizen or national (residents of American Samoa and Swain Island).
- You must be at least 18 years old.

Salary: Commensurate with experience

Closing Date: December 7, 2009

Contact Information: Brigitte LaFontant
Fax: 202-395-1147
Fax: 202-395-6724

For this announcement and others like it see www.makingthedifference.org.

PARTNERSHIP FOR PUBLIC SERVICE